LOCAL BREVITIES.

A Rising Business Man.

We need scarcely call attention to the mammoth displayed advertisement on our last page of our enterprising young friend, Mr. Charles Hutchings. So unusual a demonstration on our advertising space these hard times, will be sure to cause a sensation, and to attract favorable comment in regard to the advertiser. We consider him, indeed, (and this we say entirely aside from his advertising patronage), as a model business man, cautious, methodical, yet with a sufficient grasp of mind to realize what is due from him to his patrons and the public, in the way of properly setting his business before them—something they cannot fail to appreciate. We predict for Mr. Hutchings a successful and honorable business career.

Dr. J. H. Combs Dentist, N. Side Plaza.

Notice of the closing exercises of Long Branch School in our next.

The "Jim Dandy Club" had a called meeting at Weems' saloon, Tuesday night.

The Baptist Sunday school concert came off at the church, on Sunday night.

Judge Fisher's infant child was buried on Sunday. We sympathize with the parents.

Dr. J. W. Combs, Dentist N. Side Plaza.

Many matters of local interest were unfortunately crowded out of our present issue.

Did you notice the "raging canaw" on the south side? It is dry at present, but it will rage after a big rain.

See the handsome displayed advertisement of Mr. C. A. Andrews. Our advice is give the preference to those dealers who, by liberal advertising, demonstrate the fact that they desire your trade.

The Old Folks' Concert advertised in our local columns, bids fair to be of unusual interest. It is for a praiseworthy purpose, and we trust may be entirely successful. We are requested to state that the ladies will have some nice fancy articles for sale on the occasion, in furtherance of its object.

We devoted two hours Monday morning to a run to Kyle and Rivers. We met several friends, among them Rev. Mr. Bunting of the Baptist church, who seemed hopeful that the Seminary building recently burned, would be replaced by a new and better one at an early day.

See card of "Manford's Magazine," Chicago, in another column. Among its late attractions is a story for girls, entitled "Aunt Lela and her Family," by Mrs. Mary C. Billings of Hico, Texas, a gifted writer. It will continue some seven months and will be found of rare interest.

Notice.
San Marcos, Texas, April 9th 1889.

Ladies and friends, will you or will you not, remember your departed loved ones on that day and come out.
J. M. KILGORE, Secretary.
STERLING FISHER, President.

In connection with the fire last week and similar ones, a moral might well be pointed in regard to the importance of having a trained force to look after such. We mean fire companies. The average citizen, as Mr. Reynolds remarked, on responding to the alarm and finding his own property safe, would be apt to go home and go to bed, and yet disastrous consequences might follow. Hence the importance of liberally sustaining those who make it their business to trace out and promptly suppress fires in their incipency.

Peculiar in medicinal merit and wonderful cures—Hood's Sarsaparilla. Now is the time to take it, for now it will do the most good.

A Short Chapter From the Public School Record of San Marcos.

In our last issue, in responding to the call for proof by Trustee of certain transactions hindering the erection of our present school house by the illegal withholding of the fund collected for that purpose, our readers will recollect that we referred to a certain article from Major W. O. Hutchison and Major Ed. Burleson on that subject in substantiation of our position. Said article appeared in the Free Press of Sept. 5th, 1875. Messrs. Hutchison and Burleson belonged to a committee of three who had been appointed by the board of school directors to consider the propriety of erecting said building. They reported, as Major Hutchison states in a subsequent article in the Free Press, in favor of the building, about a year before, but their recommendation was entirely disregarded. Hence they came before the public through the Free Press. On reflection we concluded it would more satisfactory to our readers to see the article itself, to which we referred, and hence, copy it below:

SCHOOL HOUSE FUND.

To the Editor of the Free Press:

During the year 1873 there was levied and collected by the school directors of Hays county, one fourth of one per cent on the one hundred dollars of taxable property for the purpose of building and repairing public school houses. We see there has been built in district No. 1, a school house for the freedmen. But as yet none has been built for the white population.

In distributing said school house fund we were informed over a year ago that there was five hundred and thirty dollars set apart for the purpose of building a public school house in the town of San Marcos for the white population. Now, as taxpayers, and as said money is not in the County Treasury, we desire to know what has become of it; as the law under which it was collected prohibits this fund from being used for any other purpose than that for which it was collected.

It is well known that last winter the old Board of School Trustees were petitioned by a large number of the citizens requesting them to build a public school house to be used by the white children of the town. And that the building of it was postponed by said Board.

Another year has rolled round, and the term of office of said Trustees expired on first Tuesday in July; at which time it was the duty of the Board of School Directors to have ordered an election for Trustees for the coming scholastic year. But we find they have failed to do so, thus keeping in their own hands the appointing power, and depriving the people of the sacred right secured to them under the law to elect their own school officers. Who the new Board of School Trustees are, that have been appointed by this Board of Directors who by their own action have stifled the voice of the people, has not yet been publicly made known.

But it is to be hoped that they will hunt up the school house fund and have it returned to the County Treasury where it belongs, and that they will see that it is applied at once for the purpose of building a public school house—the only purpose for which it was collected and can be legally used.

We desire to know if the laws of the State are to be disregarded longer, and the will of the people to be thwarted by the Board of School Directors of Hays county?

In the name of the tax-payers; in the name of the widow and orphan, we demand of these officers that they discharge their plain duty under the law, and at once appropriate the money for the purpose for which it was collected.

We give place to the above out of no desire to protract controversy on this point, which is really a side issue to the new school house question of to-day, but rather, because we believe it will tend to prevent further controversy. We regard it as a settler.

In conclusion we will add, having noticed a disposition to put us in the wrong on merely technical grounds, and to give our words a meaning not intended by us, that in one or two instances where we spoke of "the church" as influencing the school trustees in withholding the fund to build our present school house, we did not mean the church as an organization. We make, and have made, no such charge. The influence we referred to, we pretty uniformly stated, was the special friends of the Institute most, and not all of whom were Methodists. The Methodist church of San Marcos, as a church, has taken no position against public schools. Some of its members have, while others, we are glad to know, are in favor of them, and of the new school building. With the latter, we of course have no controversy.

Personal.

C. H. Rau has gone Kerville to work.

Mr. Henry Kone came down from Temple to-day to attend the wedding of his niece, Miss Harper.

Mr. Willie Joyce took the southbound train this afternoon for Beville, Corpus Christi, and other seaports.

The wedding of Mr. C. T. Bass and Miss Melie Harper occurred at the Methodist church to-night. The Free Press sends congratulations in advance.

Any one desiring a good and faithful hand may find him in the person of freedman David Wright, from off the Blanco, who seeks work in this direction.

Texas Siftings' famous character, Col. Bill Short, editor of the "Crosby County Clarion and Farmers' Indicator," has an actual counterpart in real life in Texas. Guess who?

We notice that Mrs. Pitchford carried her banana tree safely through the winter, and it has started finely on another year's growth. If the mildness of the past winter exempted her example, many would have a crop of fruit would have been made sure, this season. Castor bean plants went thro' the winter safely without any shelter.

With regard to the candidacy of Prof. G. W. Buchanan, colored, for the postmaster of San Marcos, we will remark, as we happen to know, that the services were called into requisition on the democratic side in the political canvass of last year, and the attention and endorsement he thus received probably led him to aspire to be postmaster. His former democratic friends and patrons should therefore not be too hard on their late lieutenant.

C. T. Bass, Druggist.

Distinguished Men.
Governor John Ireland, of Texas; Simon H. Hughes of Arkansas; S. D. McNary, Governor of Louisiana; E. B. Turner, Judge of the United States Court; Ex-Gov. Hubbard, Minister to Japan; Marion Mar-tin, ex-Lieut. Governor of Texas; W. R. Miller, ex-Governor of Arkansas; E. A. Perry, Governor of Florida; W. D. Blum-ham, ex-Governor of Georgia; Alex. Gregg, Bishop of the Episcopal Church; and Chas. Wendell of other distinguished men of the United States in all professions and in every department of science have had their right restored by the use of Hawke's Crystalized Lenses. All eyes fitted and guaranteed by S. F. McAllister, San Marcos.

Kyle and Riverside.

There are some of the best men in the county in our neighborhood, such as Donald-son, Wilkison, Jackman, Yarrington, Warn-ers and White.

Mr. Wm. Trevy returned home from Cal-ifornia, some days since.

I will try and give you a write-up of Kyle in our next.

Kingsbury Anthems.

Mr. Edmon:—Did you ever experience what is known as the "critical moment," that which crosses the path of progress once in man's life? I have always a hor- or and dread of its coming, and which way and what time to look for its approach.

Now the fellow, Mr. Editor, "Citizen" spoke of driving the six-mule team, I im-agine was experiencing his critical moment. I have studied and bothered about that man ever since, wondering if he ever got out before that Geography review mud dried up on him, for I am really anxious to know. Citizen has done a great wrong to the feelings of the sympathizing by closing like the chapter in a detective story.

I think the six-mule team a pretty good il-lustration of the school enterprise and if you don't have a good driver it's going to bog up. I tell you poor people seldom the pleasure of seating their brats behind the college walls, but when they do, they first want them to spell "baker" and "shady" right well and hot jump from "lampblack" to trigonometry. Let them begin at zero, or as far up the scale as educational pres-sure will force them, and then if there are some who wish to send their children on an ex-cursion to the North Pole, the college doors are open where you can commence at the arctic circle and set sail for as far north as you want to go—the idea of a man swallow-ing his food before chewing it is absurd, why, in a few years he would die with in-digestion. Hence, let the public school be a preparatory for the toothless mouth of college.

But here, Mr. Editor, I have varied from the critical moment of my own experience, and I must confess that I am like the col-ored minister, who did three things during his discourse, first, was to take his text, second, to leave it, and third, never to get back to it. But if you had only seen me sitting on the dash-board of a wagon, the ends of my steers reversed, with the tongue broken out and nineteen hundred pounds of cotton seed, seventeen miles from home, this side of town and axle-deep in mud, you would certainly have condescended with me. However, I must return thanks to Mr. Tons McRie as a good driver, and Mr. Marshall for his splendid team and the hospitality of his good wife. Mr. Editor, I'll give you a description of this cynical humor in my next. Good-bye Josh Wilkins, keep off of the Capitol grounds, and if I don't see you no more Hello!

DR. FLAT, of Guadalupe.

From Austin.

A few more evolutions of the earth have found us in shadow and sunshine with no earthquakes or big blazes to give you an account of, but an earthquake would have been preferable to the loss of our legisla-ture; and it seems that our trials cannot come singly as Capt. Reese and Foster who have commanded, recruited and drilled the Salvation army, so successfully and piously, are going to shake the dust of the city from their feet to-day. The salvation army will still exist however, under the management of citizens.

The annual debate of the Athenian so-ciety, of the State University, occurred last night at Miller's Opera House. The debat-ed question, was resolved, that the negro should be colonized. There were two speakers on each side, and it was univer-sally conceded that all displayed talent and the society was well represented. Young Mr. Burgett of Seguin received the gold medal, which was presented by one of the judges, for making the best speech, and the verdict was in favor of the negative side, which he represented.

The city was shocked by another suicide last week, an engineer by the name of John-son.

The young man takes his best girl to the ice cream parlors, these pretty nights and murmurs April foolishness in her ear while she modestly lifts her spoon to her lips.

JOHN WILKINS.

The beauty and variety of Southern for-ests are admired by all lovers of nature. Town-founders, remembering this, should remember also that fall grown trees once destroyed, cannot be replaced. Lowell once wrote:

Who does his duty, is a question
Too complex to be solved by me,
But I, I venture the suggestion,
Done part of his plant a tree.

To which may safely be added that he who saves one from destruction that his fellows may enjoy its beauty and delight in its shade, is entitled to still greater credit for duty well done.—Manufacturers' Record.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of the Free Press will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting di-rectly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. Our Chautauqua Inquired After,
Mr. J. W. Nance has handed us a note from Mr. Bailey, now official photographer of the I. & G. N. and T. P. railroads, from which we extract as follows:

I write to ask you in regard to the Chautauqua at San Marcos. Has it collapsed, or if not when does it open? I hear that it has been moved to George Town—Is it so? I hope not, for a more delightful or ap-propriate spot could not be found in my opin-ion for such an Institute than San Marcos.

As you will learn from above heading, I will soon attend on a viewing tour over the Railroad, and would be glad to stop over a day or two to "view" the Chautauqua one more if it is still in existence. Let me know and I will try to be there during the session.

It seems to me that if the Institution is still alive, it ought to be better advertised. I can find no one here that knows anything about it, and few that have even heard of it, or through the medium of my Photo Views made a couple of years ago.

Come ahead Mr. Bailey—our Chautauqua still lives.
